

KGPA & Fort Harrod Association Field Day

Fort Harrod Goat Association, Inc. partnered with the Kentucky Goat Producers Association, Inc. to host a field day on April 29, 2023 held at the beautiful new facilities of the Boyle County Extension Office with the help of their new agent, Tyler Ray. He indicated he was very interested in learning more about small ruminants and has had several calls on such. We have him to thank for offering the space for this year's annual conference. We had good participation with approximately 60 paid participants. Taylor Graves, Washington County Extension agent presented on both meat and dairy conformation. We had several goats to compare difference in types. Jessica Baker gave a hands on demo on proper hoof trimming and answered many questions. Dr. Ken Andries, Morehead State University, detailed record keeping and the need to have proper records. The weather could have cooperated better, but all turned out great.
